

#RealMomsWhoTravel Guest Post Series

Hi,

Thanks for your interest in contributing to my #RealMomsWhoTravel Guest Post Series.

I am looking for real moms to share stories from their own personal experiences about travelling with kids.

There are three options for the series:

Option 1:

Create a post sharing a trip you took with your child/family that includes details of your mode of transportation, how you prepared for the trip, any amusing stories from the trip, and your Top Tip for anyone else who is considering a similar trip. Please provide some background about you and your family as well as this helps to 'set the scene' for readers.

Option 2:

Let us know your favourite mode of transportation for travelling as a family and share a list of between 5 and 10 tips & advice for the best most hassle-free way to enjoy that mode of travel.

This can be a road trip, by train, by plane, by boat ... or a combination of various ones. It's totally up to you.

Option 3:

Answer the following questions: -

1. Share a bit about your family dynamics (number of kids, age of kids, married/single mom) etc, where in the world you are and a bit about who you are.
2. What was your best family holiday to date. Where, when, what.
3. Give us your top 3 bucket list destinations for future family travel.
4. What is your number one piece of advice for travelling with kids based on your experience.

Requirements:

The post must be a minimum of 500 words, but a maximum of 1500.

Please supply at least three good quality pictures that relate to your post. (No need to show your kids faces if you don't want to).

If you are a blogger or want me to link back to your social media accounts, please include the URL of your blog and social media profiles, and/or usernames.

#RealMomsWhoTravel

Disclaimer:

By sending in your contribution, you agree to allow me to share your story on my blog (Mom Of Two Little Girls), and promote it on my social media channels, including the images you send me.

I reserve the right to edit your post to ensure I am happy with the spelling, grammar and layout of your post.

If you are keen to contribute to the series, please email me your contribution to momof2littlegirls@gmail.com

I look forward to receiving your stories.

Travel safe and keep exploring,

Carly

